Brown Owl protests

Too many restaurants on by-pass

The opening of a Dixie Lee chicken and seafood outlet on the Minden by-pass has sparked a protest, from the owner of the Brown Owl restaurant. The owner complained that too many restaurants are being allowed to locate on the highway.

"Four food outlets in 700 feet of highway is too many" Leroy Lichty, of the Brown Owl, told Anson, Hindon and Minden council last Wednesday.

He suggested that the number and types of businesses should be limited or Minden will wind up as another gasoline alley with downtown closed.

"If all the businesses open on the by-pass, downtown Minden will die," he stated.

Mr. Lichty read council a letter he had written to the Huntsville district of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and to Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins. The contents of the letter stated there was not enough business to warrant the opening of another restaurant on the by-pass and the only existing businesses should be allowed to expand.

The reeve, Sinc Nesbitt, agreed saying that it should be council's right to regulate businesses and to have them locate where it would be most beneficial to the municipality.

Councillor Stuart Brandon objected to the suggestion that council regulate the types and number of businesses.

"Restricting free trade is illegal federally, provincially and should be municipally," pointed out the councillor.

He said that everyone should have some competition and added that in his business he welcomes it.

"Competition is great to a certain point," countered Mr. Lichty, adding that he already had thousands of dollars tied up in a building and equipment.

Mr. Lichty also pointed out that there already was a by-law governing gas stations on the by-pass.

"If we have control of what happens anywhere in the municipality then my argument is, there are now enough gas stations and restaurants on the by-pass," said the reeve.

"It would be lovely to have that restaurant downtown," he added.

Ken Fielding, who is proposing the Dixie Lee restaurant, and John Struik, owner of a Dixie Lee restaurant in Bancroft and franchise manager for the area, approached council to have its sanction to go ahead with the building.

He said there would be many benefits to the community as a result of the restaurant. One of the main benefits would be the employment of 12 to 20 people both full and part time.

Many surveys have been completed on the feasibility of the site, adjacent to the Brown Owl. Mr. Fielding said he had a hard time to get Dixie Lee to accept Minden as a future site, but emphasized it would be beneficial to the community.

"If there was any possible way, I would insist that it was downtown," repeated the reeve.

Mr. Fielding said the restaurant would be open year round and would not be a fly-by-night operation.

The reeve, still persistent, said "we owe those people (owners of the Brown Owl) protection because they have been an asset to the area."

Mr. Struik said that 100,000 customers passed through his doors in Bancroft last year and if the Minden business was as successful the downtown would have many more people to draw from.

He said that Dixie Lee builds a standard brick building that is both clean and appealing.

Council approved the location of the restaurant subject to the building being hooked onto public water and sewers at the earliest possible date.

New businesses may have to hook-up before they open-up

A condition on a resolution that a new business must hook onto the sewers before opening for the building of a Dixie Lee restaurant sparked Anson, Hindon and Minden to close its doors and form a committee of the whole, last Wednesday.

The disagreement between council members arose when the reeve, Sinc Nesbitt, wanted the Schnitzel House, on highway 35, owned by Otto Homestead, to hook onto sewers at his own expense before a four-unit motel could be opened. This resolution would have corresponded with one made earlier in the day concerning the Dixie Lee restaurant.

But since Mr. Homestead already had health approval for holding tanks for both his operating restaurant and the motel, it was questionable what council could do.

The Minden sewer system does not run by the Homestead property (on the by-pass), it ends on the east side of the road (near Peterborough Lumber).

"I don't think we can force him to hook onto the sewers if they don't run by his property," said councillor Stuart Brandon.

By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell added "he (Mr. Homestead) practically begged for sewers when they were installed but the company wouldn't take him on."

Mr. Schell said that the construction company estimated it would cost $12,000 to hook the restaurant onto the municipal sewer system because a pump would be necessary to keep the lines from clogging because the business is located downhill from the nearest sewer pipe.

Mr. Brandon repeated that he did not feel it was fair to demand that the business hook onto the sewers at its own expense before a new building would be allowed.

"If we get a motel as big as PineStone Inn, the other side of the Fireside, you mean to tell me that you're not going to demand that they hook onto the system," questioned the reeve.

"I think you've got to think further down the road if you don't, you're just fooling yourselves," the reeve told council.

He then suggested that council go into the committee of the whole at which time the public and press are barred from the room.

After the committee of the whole was adjourned, council passed a resolution changing the first resolution governing the Dixie Lee restaurant. The statement that the sewers should be hooked up before the restaurant started operating in August, was changed to "at the earliest possible date."

In a second resolution the council ordered that the Schnitzel House and the four-unit motel connect with municipal water, with separate systems for both, the restaurant within nine months and the motel when built. Before further additions can be made to either the restaurant or motel the owner must consider installing a septic tile bed or hooking onto the municipal sewer system at his expense.

Planning for the '80's

I have just returned from Western University in London where for the fourth successive year I participated in the Canadian Institute for Organization Management's intensive one week course called "You, Your Organization, and the 80's".

The course, conducted by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with the Institute of Association Executives, is designed to improve and develop skills required to manage a volunteer association.

The unique Institute program was established in 1947, to fill a gap in the educational system, which did not offer courses specifically tailored to the needs of staff people employed by non-profit associations. Originally designed for secretaries of Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade, the course has now expanded to serve not only Chambers of Commerce and other business-oriented organizations, but also a cross-section of other kinds of associations, covering the broad spectrum of social, cultural and professional interests.

The two-year course consists of an introductory first-year level, and a more advanced second year. There is also a post-graduate level.

The first year offers instruction in such topics as: effective and efficient operation of the organization, public relations, policy development, dealing with government and media relations.

The second-year topics include: motivation, learning and problem solving, management by objectives, leadership, group processes and the conduct of meetings.

The post-graduate course deals with "Executive Topics", which vary from year to year. This year the topic was "You, Your Organization and the '80's".

The exercise involved identifying the factors that we felt would effect our long range plans, and creating a 25 page survey based on these. The survey was circulated to the 82 participants at this year's institute and results compiled. From these resources we began to put together a long range plan for each of our own organizations. Hopefully the balance of that plan can now be put together here on the "homefront".

Lots of coming events

Holliday-Rhodes elected to association

A Minden resident, Sonya Holliday-Rhodes, has been elected director of the Ontario Cottagers Association. The election came at the group's meeting June 10 in Toronto.

Just a week earlier Holliday-Rhodes was appointed chairman of the association's anti-pollution committee. Judy Phillips, also of Minden, was selected to serve as vice-chairman of the committee.

The election of Holliday-Rhodes to the executive is for a one year term. The provincial body includes representation from over 200 cottage associations throughout Ontario. Approximately 30,000 individual cottagers are represented by the association.

After 58 years

Fifty-eight years is a long time. Especially if it has been that long since you last saw the other members of your immediate family. Such was the case this past week at the home of Mrs. Nellie Ranson, Bobcaygeon Road North, Minden Village. For the first time in over half a century she and her two sisters and brother got together in what proved to be a happy and memorable reunion.

Mrs. Ranson's sister, Florence, Mrs. S. Botley, travelled from England to be part of the reunion. The brother, George Allen, arrived here from Montreal and another sister, Marjorie Morland and her husband Charles joined the group from Victoria, British Columbia.

Friends and family of the long separated siblings added to the enjoyment of the reunion. Included in the celebrations were Mr. and Mrs. David Ranson and their new born son of Bob Lake and Mr. Doug Ranson of Ottawa. Mrs. Botley returns to England in July.

Included in the family are, from the left, Mrs. S. Botley of England, Mrs. Nellie Ranson of Minden, Mrs. Marjorie Morland of Victoria, British Columbia and George Allen from Montreal.

SNATCHES FROM YESTERYEAR

The first names to appear in the Wright family, were Sarah Graham and Richard Morton, parents of Ann Jane; the latter born May 29, 1839 and married Joseph Beattie of Stanhope in 1862. There were 3 girls and 3 boys in this family, one of whom was Margaret Jane who married Walter Edward Wright and their family included James, Frederick and Edward.

The men folk were hard workers as cooks as we see that Walter was on the river drives as was his son James and his son Truman.

Later they farmed beside Gull River where Ed lived all his lifetime.

Fred and May bought the farm beside the cemetery in 1921 which had been owned by the Church of England. Ten acres were reserved for the cemetery. The Rev. Burt built the home they occupied and they were very successful on the farm. Fred was very prominent in our village being town clerk from 1930-1954 and active in the agricultural society for 56 years.

The Walter Wright family for a time lived in the Clergy house and it was here that Fred was born. He and May were married there. The couple had two daughters married with families. Jim had two sons, Frank with Department of Highways and Truman carried on the tradition being a master chef at Leslie Frost Resource Centre at Dorset.

William Francis Kent first located on Gull River in 1858 with his wife Catherine (Cameron). Their site was Lot 5 concession A, where Al Coneybeare now lives. It was here that Mary Jane was born on June 3, 1859, the first white child born in Minden. They are listed in the 1861 census from Ontario Archives.

Their family was William Francis II, Elizabeth, Mary

Jane and Walter adopted. Mary Jane married Miles Henderson and moved to United States. Wm. Francis II died in a logging accident. Mrs. Kent then traded her land for 1 1/2 acres and built her home beside the Curling-Club-Fair Building. It is still standing and owned by Freeman Trumbull. Walter was drowned in a logging accident and Elizabeth married Dave Whistle. W. Francis Kent III married Jenny Stockton (Rivers) and they had a family of ten. This family has many descendants in our area.

Eakins explains Tax Credits

John Eakins M.P.P. (Victoria-Haliburton) said a week ago last Monday that he would like to bring to his constituents' attention some background information on Ontario's Tax Credits to low-income families.

Mr. Eakins said, "In Ontario, financial aid to low-income groups is provided through a variety of programs including subsidized housing and Family Benefits payments. Additional help is also given through the Ontario Tax Credit program. Because property taxes and retail sales tax are collected without regard to an individual's income, Ontario Tax Credits provide the opportunity to return a portion of these taxes to those who need assistance the most.

Many people who have no taxable income are not aware that they may be eligible for Ontario Tax Credits. To claim the credits, a federal income tax return must be filed together with the Ontario Tax Credit form which is in the federal kit.

The Property Tax Credit returns some of the money spent on accommodation during 1978, whether a taxfiler paid property taxes or rent. Tenants living in subsidized housing or those whose rent is paid directly to Ontario Housing by Welfare authorities, may also be eligible for this credit.

The Sales Tax Credit returns some of the money paid for provincial sales tax on goods and services purchased throughout the year. If you are a single parent, you may claim the 'equivalent to married exemption' for a child on your income tax return. This will raise your personal exemptions which, in turn, will increase the amount of Sales Tax Credit you will receive.

Taxfilers having a taxable income of more than $2,310 must reduce the amount of Ontario Tax Credits which they may claim by 2% of their taxable income. Social assistance recipients, however, have no taxable income and therefore there is no reduction on the total sum of the credits for which they are eligible.

Silver Wedding Celebration

A surprise twenty-fifth wedding anniversary party for Grant and Lois Gamble was held at Davis Lake on Saturday, June 16, 1979. The original wedding party was represented by the bride, groom and the best man, Mr. Robert Gibson of Palmerston.

Approximately 35 people attended the celebrations and many gifts were presented to the happy couple. A buffet supper was served at midnight and the dancing continued into the small hours.

Grads

Congratulations! You finally made it and we are all proud of your achievement. Why not let us tell everyone else in Haliburton about your success.

Area students, graduating from post-secondary institutions, are invited to submit graduation photographs and a brief write-up to be published in upcoming editions of The Times. Send the information to Box 97 or bring it to our office on Bobcaygeon Road north. There is no charge for this community service.

New Barrie Region for March of Dimes

Bob Peebles has been appointed regional director for the new 'Barrie Region' for the March of Dimes which includes Victoria, Halibur-ton, Simcoe and Dufferin counties and the District Municipality of Muskoka. The region's central office will be located with a more concentrated effort being made to develop programs and services for disabled adults in these areas.

Barrie is Mr. Peebles home town and he is looking forward to his return from Toronto. Since a car accident 24 years ago left him paraplegic and working from a wheelchair, he has worked at the Ontario March of Dimes Provincial Office.

One of his first preliminary goals will be to work alongside local disabled people, helping to set up groups through which they can work on their own behalf to bring about changes they need for greater independence in housing, transportation and job opportunities.

Working with a local representative of the United Handicapped groups of Ontario, Mr. Peebles has already started work on a transportation committee for disabled residents of Barrie.

The Ontario March of Dimes will continue to provide wheelchairs, artificial limbs and other personal support items to residents of the Barrie Region and will be expanding its other services of providing help in finding suitable housing, transportation and jobs and sponsoring summer and winter camps and other sport, social and recreation events.

All queries about the Ontario March of Dimes in the Barrie Region can be directed to (705) 737-3315.

Rockcliffe noise uncontrollable by owner...council

Minden townspeople are going to have to live with the noise from the Rockcliffe Hotel because it brings more tourists into the town every weekend than any other business, according to Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

"That hotel probably brings in 1,000 people every weekend," Reeve Sinc Nebitt pointed out, at last Wednesday's meeting.

In a discussion with Provincial Constable Gary Chapman, over the municipality's noise by-law, the council asked for the force's co-operation in enforcing the by-law.

Apparently some officers were refusing to make charges under this law because it was misunderstood that it was to be the municipality's sole responsibility.

But with only one by-law enforcement officer, Dick Schell, the reeve said that it was impossible for him to be on duty 24 hours a day to lay the necessary noise charges.

Constable Chapman pledged the force's co-operation by saying "if there was no co-operation before, there will be now."

In the past months the reeve, Dave Willis, the owner of the Rockcliffe, and other members of the council have been bombarded with calls about the noise.

"I can understand when people get upset because there are a hundred people outside the Rockcliffe and the motorbikes take off for some fun at two in the morning, but he can't control that....he (Mr. Willis) can't control whether someone has a beer outside the hotel or a case of beer in the car," said the reeve.

"It (The Rockcliffe) is an attraction and if we want the benefits we're going to have to live with it," added Mr. Nesbitt.

"I think he's making an effort to rectify the noise problem," he added.

Mr. Nesbitt said the phone calls are diminishing since he told callers to make a formal complaint and the matter would be taken to court. No formal complaints have been made.

"There are too many Mr. Smiths around here," said the reeve.

Historic house offered to committee for museum

Roy Windover of Minden, has offered the council of Anson, Hindon and Minden a chance to buy the property on which an old house sits. This house, if purchased would be used for a new museum planned for Minden.

If not purchased, this historic building will be destroyed because it is sitting on a lot line therefore taking up two lots, in a new subdivision planned by Mr. Windover.

He offered the house to council at its regular meeting last Wednesday but no action could be taken until a discussion with the library/museum committee.

Presently the committee has made no decision on the house, according to Stan Blears, of Minden. The committee has been involved with the planning stages of a new complex to be located on the Bobcaygeon Road north, just south of the arena.

According to council's liaison officer, Len Lonsberry, if the house was purchased the museum could be located there and the new complex could be used for the library only.

"It would be a lot nicer to have the museum articles displayed in a natural setting," he said.

Mr. Lonsberry said he did not think there would be any problem in obtaining grants from the heritage fund to refurbish the house.

The next meeting of the library/museum committee will be July 2 at the Minden Municipal offices.

Eakins backs Business Act

John Eakins, M.P.P. Victoria-Haliburton introduced into the Ontario Legislature a private member's bill entitled, An Act Respecting Small Business in Ontario.

"I was honoured that my colleague and friend, Hugh O'Neill M.P.P. (Quinte) agreed to second the introduction of this bill," said Mr. Eakins last Thursday.

Two years ago when he introduced a similar bill it received approval by the Legislature on second reading, but Mr. Davis and his government flaunted the wishes of the elected members and left it to die as the session came to an end. It was to have been brought before the Resources Development Committee for clause by clause consideration. Mr. Eakins hopes that the Davis government will show some real concern for the needs of the small businessman and bring forth this new bill for debate.

The purpose of the bill is to provide for the preservation and expansion of small business enterprise in Ontario. The bill provides for government efforts relating to tendering policy, subcontracting, research and development and small business consortia, as a means of providing support for the small business enterprise.

"I feel that a minimum of 40% of all government purchases should be awarded to the small businessman. At the present time the government does not know what percentage goes to this sector, because they do not know how to define small business.

"I challenge the Conservative government of Bill Davis to show some real leadership and bring this bill forward for second reading. Ontario needs and deserves a Small Business Act," added Mr. Eakins.

Editorial

We must disagree with the opinions expressed June 13 by Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt at the regular meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council. While we can sympathize with his motives, we feel the head of council was off the mark when he suggested the municipal body should be able to exercise control over the location of certain businesses within the community.

The reeve, commenting on a proposal that another food outlet be opened on the bypass, suggested in essence that the council should restrict the number of such businesses on the highway. He offered a number of points in support of his position, including the fact that the food businesses presently located on the bypass are providing good service, the need for such a food outlet in the core area of the community and the contention that further commercial development of this nature along the highway would impede traffic flow, thereby negating the purpose for which the bypass was constructed. Nesbitt was particularly adamant that the food outlet should locate in the core area as the business traffic it would generate would benefit the other merchants in the area.

The arguments do contain points with some validity, although we wonder if other food outlets in the core area would be as enthusiastic about welcoming another fast food business to their midst.

However, our main disagreement with the reeve is his inference that the municipality should have the power to control the type and location of businesses within the community.

The province has already delegated certain powers to local governments. Most people of Ontario would support the zoning regulations which separate residential areas from commercial and industrial developments. These common-sense rules make for a more pleasant and liveable community. Likewise health and fire regulations serve as obvious benefit.

But, when local government, or for that matter any level of government, attempts to deny a commercial enterprise access to properly zoned land, it is going too far.

Small businessmen in this country are already faced with too many regulations imposed by the federal and provincial governments. While some rules may have a place in the orderly operation of the country, too much government interference in the economic activities of the nation will lead to stagnation.

Councillor Stuart Brandon hit the nail on the head when he told the meeting that open and free competition is the lifeblood of our economy. Governments should be there to encourage such competition, not to throw up roadblocks in front of those seeking to enter the marketplace.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

Only four of Ontario's 265 hospitals testified at hearings of the social development committee which consequently decided to hold 4 regional meetings on June 13th. A private consultant in health systems who has done work in 10 countries and every Canadian province told the committee, that in his view, the ministry is heading in the right direction with its move away from active treatment in hospitals to more use of less costly chronic care and community and home-based programs. However, he warned that it should be "more careful" about imposing rigid guidelines such as the 3.5 beds per thousand people in Southern Ontario and four per thousand in the North.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has raised the question of the contract for pollution control equipment granted by the Government to a Texas company, even though a Canadian company with an equally good record submitted a lower bid. He said the Environment Ministry's decision to give its business to Radian Corp. of Austin instead of to Canadian Applied Technology of Buttonville, contravened the Government's general policy of doing business with domestically-owned companies. Ministry officials have apparently admitted to Canadian Applied Technology that its bid was lower, its proposed system adequate, and its record as good as that of the Texas company. The ministry raised questions only about the technological expertise of the Buttonville company and Stuart Smith asked: "How can our companies ever be technologically good enough if they don't win contracts by bidding lower?" He was particularly angered because Ontario companies could become world leaders in such highly technical industries if given a chance.

The Resources Development Committee has stated that acid rain pollution is killing Canada's lakes and should be declared a "national emergency". Ontario should order all existing coal-fired plants to meet air pollution control standards and all new plants to have the best available control devices installed before they operate. The Committee's recommendations follow weeks of hearings at which it was told that acid rain has already "killed" 140 Ontario lakes and threatens another 48,000 and the problem is threatening Ontario's multi-billion dollar tourist and recreation industry. More than half the acid rain damaging Ontario is carried from 'United States' plants by air currents, although Inco Ltd.'s giant smelter in Sudbury is the world's largest single source of pollution, according to government testimony. The committee was set up to investigate the provincial environment ministry's replacement last year of an order forcing Inco to cut its pollution to 750 tons per day with a new order allowing a continued 3,600 tons per day. To persuade the U.S. that acid rain requires immediate action on both sides of the border, the committee urged the government to start controlling some of Ontario's worse sources as soon as possible.

Local group will control Minden & Haliburton hospitals in 4 to 5 years

Responsibility for the control and operation of Minden and Haliburton Red Cross hospitals will be transferred to the local level in approximately four to five years, according to Mrs. D.A. Irwin, Chairman of the Red Cross Hospitals Board.

TRENT-SEVERN WATERWAY

Water Control

Rainfall of 25 mm in Haliburton the weekend of June 9-10 pushed the storage volume in the Reservoir Lakes of the Trent-Severn system slightly over 100% again by Monday, June 11.

Higher levels and flows resulted throughout the Trent system early in this week, but by Thursday the drier weather was beginning to take its toll. On Friday the flow was down again from 110 cubic metres per second to 51.0 since last Wednesday. Reservoir river flows were reduced as well from 48.3 cubic metres per second on Tuesday to 39.0 on Friday.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching level is now about 4 cm below the curve level of 219.10 m and consequently the flow was reduced again this week by 12 cubic metres per second.

The Black River flow is now 6.26 cubic metres per second while at Swift Rapids 36.0 is still running.

Waterway School Program in full swing

Spring on the Trent-Severn brings two migrations in swift order - boaters and school children. As the lock stations gear up for the first flow of boats, lockmasters can count on bus loads of visiting school groups crowding the rails and posing a new batch of questions on the lock operations.

With up to 25 bus loads a day, the Peterborough Lift Lock is the busiest destination. This year, the lift lock guides have been brought on duty early, to give additional service at this site.

Many groups - from locations between Cambridge and Kingston - take an extended bus tour through parts of the system, combining a study of the waterway with important natural and historical features.

The Waterway Interpretive program also gives presentations to local schools, on a request basis. This year, the service has been expanded with the production of a Resource Guide to the Trent-Severn system, and an Activity Guide for teachers. These publications help teachers to shape study projects for the class that tie the Waterway into the main curriculum of Ontario schools.

Former Haliburton girl writes play

A former resident of the County of Haliburton was the author of a play performed recently in honor of the town of Mount Forest Centennial celebrations. The one-act play entitled "Brief Encounters With Our Kind" was written by B. V. Holliday, the former Bonnie Stinson of Halls Lake.

"Brief Encounters With Our Kind" was presented by the Grey Wellington Theatre guild under the direction of Patrick C. Smith. It was one of four one-act plays presented May 30, 31 and June 1 at the Mount Forest District High School. An original play about the first council meetings in the town compared with happenings in the community today, it was performed by a cast of 19.

Mrs. Holliday attended Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and is the daughter of Mrs. Doreen Stinson and the late Mr. Leonard Stinson formerly of Halls Lake. She has been a resident of the Mount Forest area since 1974.

Letter to the Editor

I have just read a letter in your paper that Mr. Sinclair Nesbitt wrote.

Now I have been to see our veterinarians at Maple Lake and found them to be really good at their job.

They are a lovely couple and they sure know their work. They were away on business that weekend that Mr. Nesbitt tried to get them. Mr. Vander-Wekken took his wife and family with him.

So I don't think Mr. Nesbitt should be too hard on this lovely couple, for I am sure they will do a great job at Maple Lake.

This live-trap was used by C.O. Alex Millar to catch a nuisance bear last week.

Surprise party for Della Griffin

Friends and relatives got together for a surprise birthday party for Della Griffin, who turned 79, on Saturday.

Mrs. Griffin was born on the Paull flats on the Kennis Lake Road and lived there with her parents Liddy and Bille Paull.

"Hard work makes you live old and she did more than any 10 women could do," said her son Gerald Griffin.

Surrounded by her family, a sister Alice Prentice, brother Garnet Paull, and two daughters from Toronto Mrs. Lottie Edwards and Mrs. Lila Gray and a host of grandchildren and a great grandson.

After four days of waiting and also four pounds of honey, Ministry of Natural Resources successfully captured a nuisance bear at Miner's Bay Lodge, eight miles south of Minden.

This was the first attempt at trapping a bear in a 'culvert-live trap' C.O. Alex Miller and Eric Mitchell, of the Ministry of Natural Resources, had built last summer.

Usually when bears are making a nuisance of themselves, the MNR has to destroy them, but in this case the bear was trapped and set free on crown land in Hindon Township, miles away from any residence.

The 150-pound yearling was reported to the ministry by the owner of the lodge a week ago last Friday, so on Saturday C.O. Miller set up his trap and the wait for the bear to return began.

Before the bear showed up again on Wednesday raccoons raided the trap of four pounds of honey.

When the yearling returned he was enticed into the culvert by the pail of honey hanging at the end of the pipe. The pail was attached to a wire, which ran along the outside of the culvert, and had a pin on the end of it, holding up a steel plate door.

The bear's yanking on the pail pulled the pin out of position and the steel plate fell into place, trapping a rather irate bear inside.

By the time the trap was trailered 31 miles to the drop off site, the bear had eaten all the honey and demolished the pail.

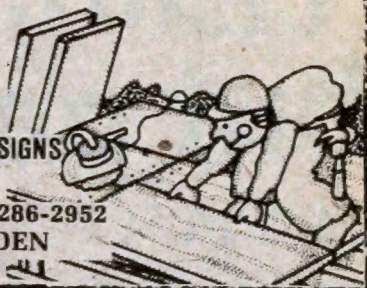

The release of the bear was somewhat less dramatic than anticipated as MNR staff members stood ready with cameras cocked, the prisoner merely looked around and sauntered off into the woods.

To ease the number of bear complaints, the MNR urges the public to dispose of household garbage immediately in the appropriate municipal dumping area.

Train, log drives gone but people live on

This is Senior Citizen's Week. Starting last Sunday festivities began throughout Ontario to honor the people that contributed so much to the growth of our country.

One of the most important things to remember this week is the Home up on the hill. But although most residents in the county call Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home, "home" it actually is only home to 60 people.

And home is what it is. Although the building is modern, actually with all the comforts of home (and more), the facility is not the important factor, it is the people.

One of the people, Bill Hounsell, used to be warden of Haliburton County in 1957. Mr. Hounsell, born in the late 1800's, remembers walking 10 miles to school at Miner's Bay but he still thinks the school bus system is 'pretty good if they don't spoil it'.

Although many teachers passed through the school while Mr. Hounsell was studying there he remembers that it was always the teacher's duty to keep the fire going all day, after two children had lit it first thing in the morning.

Mr. Hounsell used to watch the log drives from the present site of the Orillia Water, Light and Power dam, down the Gull River to Cobocook.

He ran a small sawmill, which two men could make a living from with their own timber, but he never actually travelled on a drive himself.

Only one man travelled the river route with the logs. He would jump on top of a log and free any logs that got trapped in the banks on the trip down.

"They usually picked a big one to ride on," explained Mr. Hounsell.

Those were also the days when the area needed the rail lines that are now in the final stages of closing.

"We used trains for shipping everything," he said, adding that the trains came regularly every day to the station in Kinmount.

He remembered one of the first cottages being built on a lake over 70 years ago.

"They came to Kinmount by train and then they took a horse and democrat," explained Mr. Hounsell.

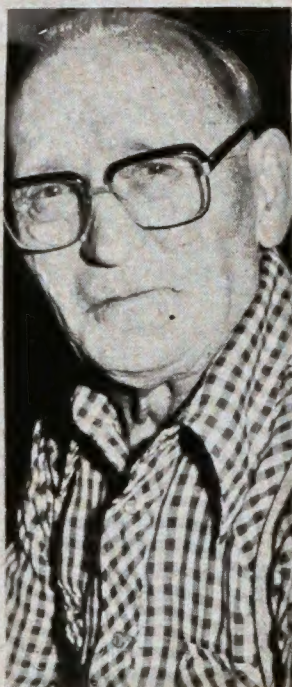

(For all you oldtimes that don't know, a democrat is a two-seated buggy-like taxi).

Like most outdoorsmen Mr. Hounsell recalls shooting "the biggest black bear I've ever saw" with a .22 calibre rifle.

At the time he was working for a surveyor and he wandered off with his rifle to check his trap line and when he was about half way to the highway he heard a great bear roar. By the sound of the roar he thought it might be a little bit too much to shoot with the .22.

But he suddenly came upon the bear and shot it twice. The bear was still caught in the trap. While usually trapping for beaver, otter and mink, Mr. Hounsell recalls getting seven wolves one year.

"I guess they were extra thick that year," he says.

But Mr. Hounsell isn't the only special person at home, there are 59 more. Most of them spend their days doing crafts, singing, exercising and taking bus trips. The staff provides an excellent curriculum with something of interest to everyone. One of the programs is Thursday tea with different ladies' groups serving tea and goodies and meeting old friends and acquaintances.

As a former resident and school teacher the late Mrs. Jane Fairfield wrote in the Haliburton County News on Oct. 26, 1972: "to maintain and have such environment demands the greatest love of humanity and ingenuity granted to those possessed with devoted service to mankind."

Merchants win 2, lose to Fenelon

The Minden Merchants picked up two wins and a loss during the past week of play. The local baseball team earned one win from Woodville and split a pair of games with Fenelon Falls.

In the first game the Minden Merchants took a 1-0 win from the Woodville team on their home turf, June 12. The Minden run in the fourth inning came on a double from Rick Hartwick. He sent home Harris Steele, the right fielder, who had doubled earlier in the stanza. Also on base with a walk was Dave Hartwick but he was unable to score.

The Minden squad picked up eight hits in the game with the winning effort being credited to Jack Snell. The losing pitcher was L. Jackson. The closest Woodville came to scoring was in the fifth inning when Jackson advanced to third base on a single and a single by Al Squires. The Merchants were able to hold off the offensive and maintain their lead.

Defeat Fenelon

The game Wednesday evening saw the Merchants jump into a lead in the second inning and increase that margin to four runs while holding the visitors to the single run earned in the third frame.

Dave Dollo scored the first Minden run, in the second inning, getting on base with a walk and scoring on a double by Dave Hartwick. Kirk Hewitt scored in the third on his own single and stolen bases. The Merchants picked up two runs in the fifth inning. Dave Hartwick, first up, netted a single, with Hewitt also scoring a single. Singles by Rick Hartwick and Jack Snell brought the two runners home and put the game on ice for Minden.

Snell pitched another steady game for the Merchants and picks up the win. The losing pitcher was Van Alstyde.

Loss in Fenelon

The Merchants went down to an 8-6 defeat Monday evening as Fenelon Falls returned the favour of last Wednesday. That game was played in Fenelon. Further details were unavailable at press time.

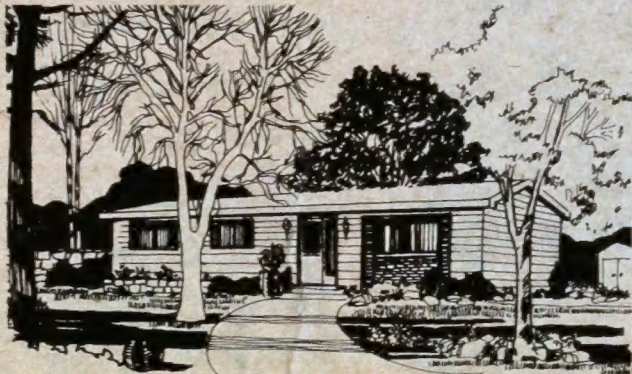

The next game for the Merchants will be this evening (Wednesday) at the ball park. Woodville will be in town for an encounter which gets underway at 8 p.m.

Kirk Hewitt of the Minden Merchants grimaces as he takes a mighty swing at the ball Wednesday evening. The Merchants defeated the visiting Fenelon Falls team by a 4-1 margin.

Students learn the English way

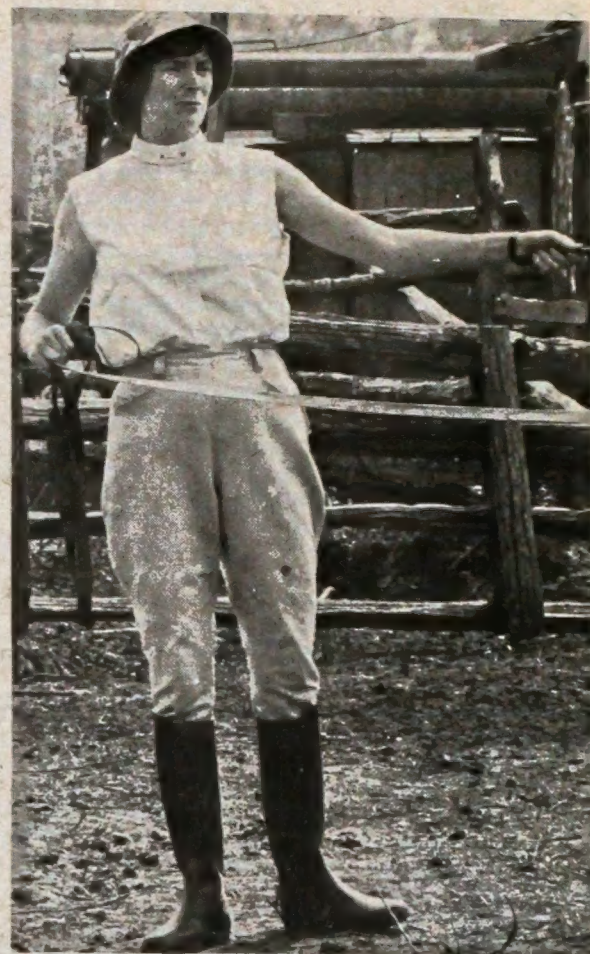

The children that are taking riding lessons at Rockwood Farm have really improved in the past few Saturdays.

The children, under the guidance of Mary Jane Irwin, have been learning to ride horses English style, properly.

All of the students ride for different reasons: some for the enjoyment, others to learn how to ride their own horses and there others like Debbie Barry, of West Guilford, who wants to "learn how to jump after I learn to ride better".

The children were at their fifth lesson at Rockwood Farm, two miles north of Minden on Saturday morning.

AROUND THE TOWN

By Jeanne Sears

There is one thing that "bugs" us in town; when the stores put up posters of coming events and then not take them down when the date is past, perhaps a quick check of the windows as they are cleaned, so these posters are not out-of-date.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Mrs. Cyril Feir, Harold Elstone and Mrs. Maude Boice who have died since last week.

Mrs. Earl Hall of Toronto spent a few days last week at the Taylor Kernohan's. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Graham and Michael of Huntsville.

Lynn and Wayne Cox, and Robbie and Carol Ann Titus visited Mr. and Mrs. Blake Hughes and Amy and Rachael of Mississauga.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hogg (nee Cathy Cunday) who were married last Saturday.

Lydia and Angus Coulter, Margaret Miller and Lily Hogg visited Cora Taylor at Peterborough one day last week.

Professor and Mrs. Orie Loucks of Indianapolis spent the weekend with his father Vinton Loucks of Minden.

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. N. Leigh were Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Robertson and Shelley of Carleton Place.

Darlene Robertson of Calgary, who has been visiting the Jack Austins, of Minden, is now in Wellesley Hospital where she will undergo an operation to repair a broken leg; all her friends send good wishes for a speedy recovery.

The Earl Hewitts and the Bud Marks of Thornhill enjoyed a visit with the Bill Burnetts of Hartford, Michigan.

We went through the municipal yard one day last week and saw several school buses and vans from Bowmanville; on chatting with the young people we learned they were on their way back from a 4-day annual camping trip at Algonquin Park. This was a secondary school outing. What a grand time they must have had as the weather had been perfect.

Francis Smith of Detroit Michigan, is enjoying a visit with his sister Mrs. Lorne Dawson.

Congratulations to Irma Pasquino of Haliburton who won the jackpot at Rotary Bingo in 59 numbers, amounting to $250.

We are pleased to report we had a short chat with Molly Locke of Bobcaygeon, a former resident, she looks very well and would have liked to have seen more of her other friends, but wishes to be remembered by them anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Titus and children moved into the Min Irwin house one day last week.

Another great weekend, the town was busy on Saturday, and now high schoolers are out and soon the "big" crowd will arrive. Take care. Cheerio until next time.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank and did appreciate the care I received in room 359 Surgical Ward, St. Joseph's Hospital Peterborough, and to Dr. Belch for Special Care. Many thanks Doc and all the Nurses and Staff.

To all the Board members, nurses and Staff of Minden, Red Cross Hospital. The lovely plant, personal letter with three signatures. It sure gives one a big lift. Thank you all so much.

Also Dr. Lodenquai, you can't do this, you can't do that. Keep me under control at all times (aye).

My faithful and true friend Sigrid Laine for doing so much with visiting me daily. And those cards, ever so sick. They gave you a smile, and other little items.

It sure raised my morale and gave me that extra lift. A real friend.

Also, Dr. A. Jamieson, who had the misfortune to break her ankle. If that had not happened she would sure put the pressure on me to do what I was told. Thanks Sylvia and Olga for fruit and offers, a chat helps. Marj Young, Robert and Scott and all the rest on that huge card, also the beautiful 'orchard' that was sent to Peterborough Hospital, and kindness you have shown me. Many thanks.

There were over 50 cards and letters. Those that sent flowers, visits, phone calls, cards, letters and all other gifts. To all my neighbours, relatives, my family, Auxilliary Canadian Legion Branch 441, Kinmount, for cards, phone calls. The V.O.N. who care for me every day.

Many, many thanks.
Grace Simmons. 6C
